Jervis Bay

Marine Park

Located about 170 km from Sydney, Jervis Bay is both an inlet and the basis of the uniquely beautiful Booderee National Park which is a popular holiday destination. Jervis Bay is one of the true gems of the NSW South Coast region and its value to Australia has been recognised by its Marine & National Park status. Many people come to dive, snorkel, fish, spear, surf and explore these famous waters. Its breathtaking beauty, rich cultural and natural significance, have long been recognised and appreciated by locals, domestic and overseas visitors. We are sure that once you have seen the crystal clear water, famous white beaches, and diverse aquatic life you will agree that Jervis Bay offers the best diving in NSW.

Strive towards the "Master Scuba Diver" rating whilst you're away on this trip. Don't Forget, you can bring those memories home with you after you have completed your Padi Underwater Photography or Enriched Air Course for only $250 on these trips!
