Philippines

The republic of Philippines lies of the South-East coast of Asian mainlands. It is an archipelago of 7,107 Islands and islets, set in deep blue waters which contain some of the riches marine life in the world.

The can be divided into four major island groupings; Luzon, Visayas, Mindanao, Palawan.

Dive into crystal clear waters with underwater visibility of up to 40 meters. Discover shipwrecks, cliffs covered with sponges, colorful corals, gorgonians, turtles, sharks, rays, and even the very rarely seen exotic fishes like Spanish dancer, harlequin ghost-pipefish, camouflaged frogfish and fire gobies. Thanks to the convergence of the nutrient rich waters of the Pacific Ocean, South China Sea and Celebes Sea, you will be a spectator to an aquatic symphony of over 2,000 species of marine fish as well as more than 800 out of the 1000 known coral species in the world.

So whether you're just after a relaxing dive with spectacular views or a chance to a perfect your macro photography skills, take on Puerto Galera 's dive spots for the best of all worlds.
