

PADI Wreck Diver Course

While most people think “ship” when they think of a wreck. However wreck diving includes other craft, such as sail boats, houseboats, railroad cars, automobiles, aircraft, military craft and even building materials. Because of this, few dive environments lack wrecks, so virtually every diver ends up diving on wrecks from time to time.

Wreck Diving is all about experiencing different sites. Some people do wreck diving for the curiosity, others looking the history, some are looking at the aquatic life on around the wreck and others are into photography. Whatever draws your attention to wreck-diving the PADI Wreck Diver Specialty Course will enable you to learn more about wreck diving techniques so you can get more out of your next wreck dive. The course is broken up into theory and practical, involves 4 dives with the last one using a reel and penetrating the wreck.
